EDUCATORS' SYMPOSIUM 2003

You have the power to positively influence a child's life.

As an educator, an administrator or a caregiver, you create possibilities and release potential, building the foundation for successful learning, positive social interactions and strong emotional bonds. As an education professional, you've done a super job of teaching, guiding, mentoring and caring, and your impact can be seen in the children whose lives you've touched.

Working with children and developing their minds is an awesome responsibility. Now, hear from experts and learn the latest in teaching and learning. Join us for a day of training at the Educators' Symposium (formerly Super Saturday) hosted by Collin County Community College District.
